

Vertical AVTV Installs and Integrates Equipment in New Autism Center

EMORY
UNIVERSITY

February 2016 - Emory's Autism Center recently moved from an office building to a standalone location, which required a new AV system. Vertical AVTV helped take some of their existing equipment from the old location and integrate it into their new system. Technicians and project managers provided the Emory Autism Center with new televisions, HDMI wall plates, speakers, cabling, and more. After the completion of the installation, the Emory Autism Center is able to conduct business effectively.
